

Here's the London studio, the original "Old Curiosity Shop" of Dickens fame, of the popular artist Tony Sarg—you're familiar, of course, with his funny page, "Lazy Larry," in The Sunday Tribune and his clever drawings in The Saturday Evening Post. The upper window on right of the quaint old building looks in on the bedroom that was once Little Nell's.

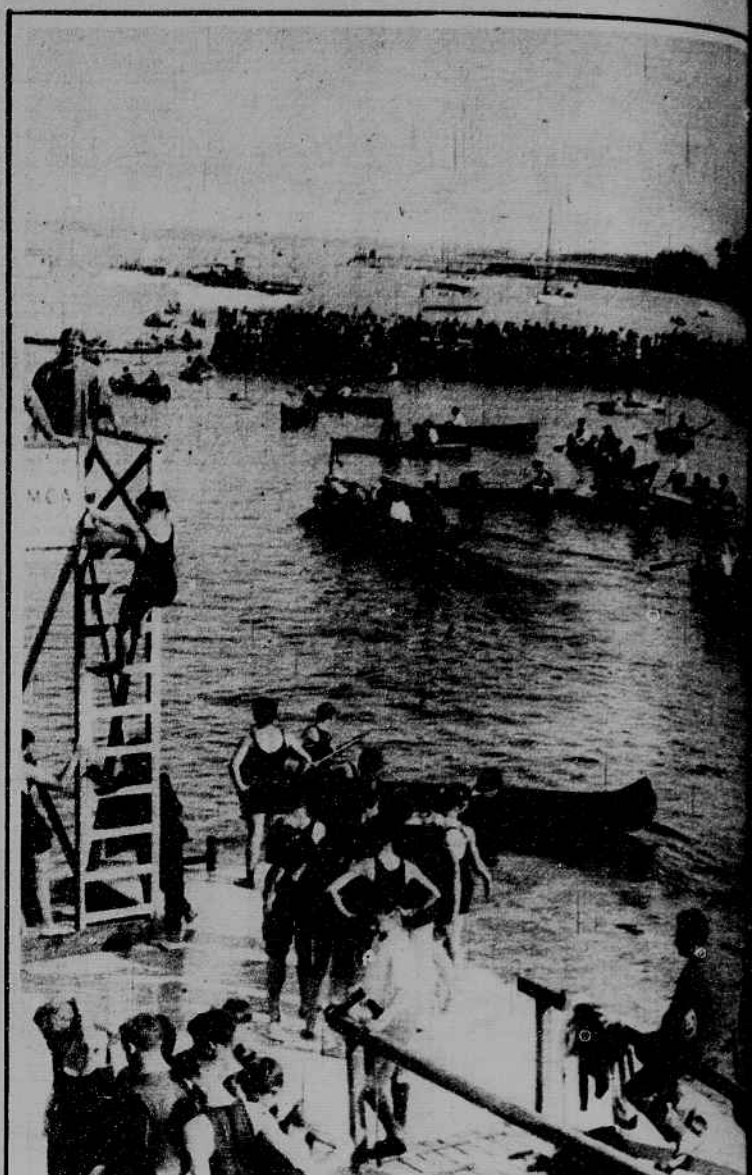

Van der Weide

That hundred per cent sportsman, Harry Payne Whitney, captain of two former American international polo teams, in the rôle of referee for the first of the informal polo matches played at Meadow Brook a week ago yesterday, to determine candidates for the American team that will play in the international games in England next spring.

Leach

Right—Ethelda Bleibtrey, New York's wonderful swimmer, who, in the recent Olympic try-outs at Manhattan Beach, twice smashed the women's 100-meter world record. Against the nation's feminine champs she made 1:13 and 1:12 3-5, clipping the old mark 3 3-5 seconds.

Above—Two eggs make a delicious omelette for thirty-two guests at a Santa Barbara hotel—but they were ostrich eggs and were shipped by airplane from Los Angeles. Note the sledgehammer by the chafing dish with which the chef has just opened the first egg.

Keystone

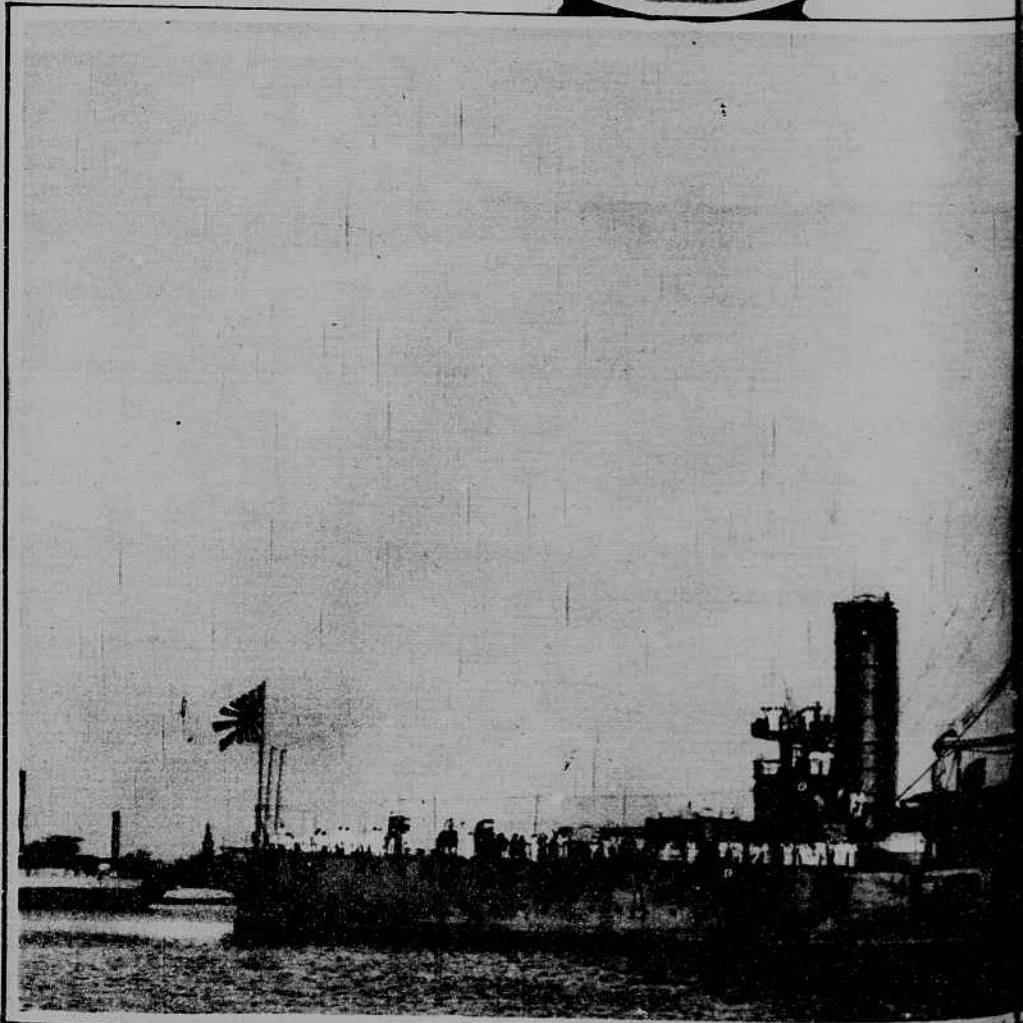

Right—John Wanamaker's grandson, Norman MacLeod, and Fred Soderhuck are two ex-service men of Philadelphia who didn't get enough tramping in France, so have set out for a four months' hike to San Francisco over the Lincoln Highway.

Keystone

Two of the very latest pictures of Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, Republican nominee for Vice-President, taken on his comfortable farm in his native town of Plymouth, Vt. In one, Farmer Coolidge, armed with an eight-foot whip, is shown navigating a mowing machine; in the other (circle) he forsakes modern haying methods for the good old-fashioned scythe.

F. P. Wald

Left—They don't need lofty signal towers from which to direct traffic in San Francisco—they use oversize cops. Here's the tallest of the force, Big Jim Fleming, six foot seven and weighing 275 pounds. His monthly salary is at the rate of 52c a pound.

Keystone

The Japanese cruiser Kasuga, which arrived in the world, is a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war, and is the first to pass through the Panama Canal from the Pacific. Further cement the traditional friendship between the two nations, the Kasuga is of 7,700 tons and is manned by 1,000 men.